

They would file a report if there was a lawyer. If they did not file it for any reason, the lawyer should then approach the public prosecutor and submit a request for the report to be filed. The public prosecutor signs it and issues an order to the police department to file the report.

After signing, the prosecutor's office stamps it, and the lawyer or refugee, if aware of their legal rights, takes it to the police department that is compelled to file the report by the force of the law."