

"Police departments generally tend to be arbitrary in filing reports for refugees, assuming they are lying. There are rumors about instructions given to police departments to reduce the number of reports related to assaults on refugees."