

Audio – Majda Hasan Ali, head of the Darfur Women Inclusive Stand

“Also because of a phone, one girl from the village of ... (indistinct). There were two people.. one a relative who wanted to marry her. She said she wanted a phone... the sad thing is that the phone had no SIM card or memory.. and no battery. These two people found her with it and immediately suspected her of talking to boys. Sadly they beat her viciously and tied her to a horse. She died the same day.”